During the same scan window, Morgan & Morgan gained 198 new reviews and now holds the #3 position with 7712 total reviews, while your profile added 0 new reviews. WHY YOU SLIPPED

- [HIGH CONFIDENCE] Morgan & Morgan gained 198 reviews during the scan period while your profile gained 0 new reviews this week. Google's local algorithm weights review velocity heavily; competitors with active review generation are favored in ranking.
- [HIGH CONFIDENCE] Your review velocity over 11.9 weeks measured 0.08 reviews per week, adding only 1 review total. Rand Spear: The Accident Lawyer, currently ranked #1, gained 7 new reviews; MyPhillyLawyer gained 5 reviews while climbing 6 positions to #7. Stagnant review flow signals to likely algorithm that the business may be inactive or underperforming client satisfaction.
- [MEDIUM CONFIDENCE] The ranking trend over 10 scans across 11.9 weeks shows overall decline with high volatility (positions ranged #5 to #15). While you reached #5 six weeks ago, the current drift toward #15 suggests instability in your local signals rather than a sustained upward trajectory.

YOUR STANDING

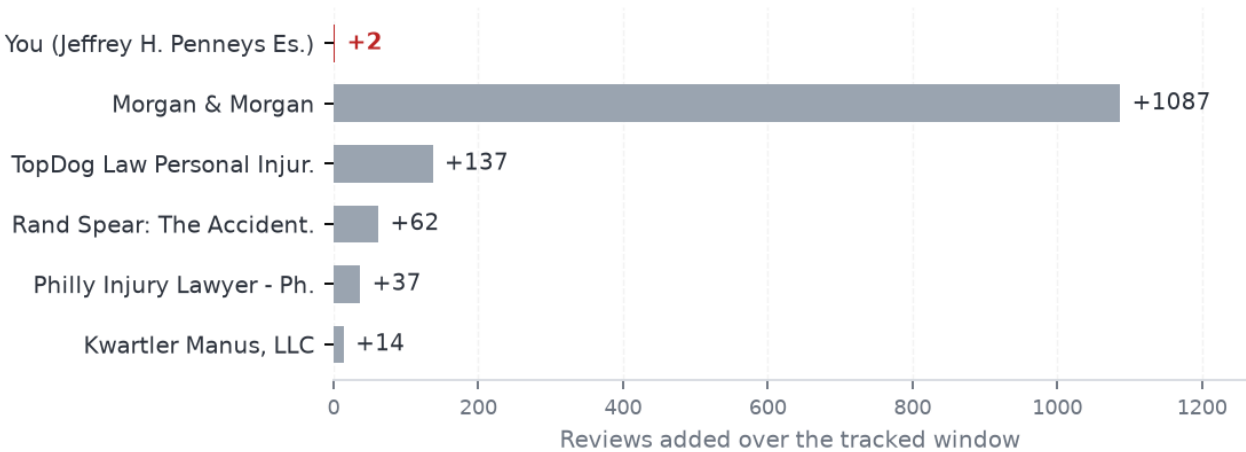

Your confidence score is 10/10, meaning this data is complete and reliable. The one-week drop from #8 to #15 is sustained across a 13-week dataset showing volatile behavior. This is not a single anomaly--your underlying review velocity and rank volatility warrant action now rather than waiting for the next scan.

DO THIS NEXT

1. Implement a systematic post-case review request process targeting recent personal injury clients within 14 days of case closure. Why now: Your 0.08 reviews per week velocity is 2.5x slower than competitors climbing the rankings (MyPhillyLawyer at +5 reviews, Rand Spear at +7 reviews). A law firm with your caseload should capture reviews at a measurable rate. Effort: Low. Expected impact: High.

Why now: Your 5.0 star rating matches The Levin Firm (#4, 240 reviews, 5.0 stars) but they rank higher due to engagement signals. Review responses strengthen relevance signals. Effort: Medium. Expected impact: Medium.
3. Prioritize case types and client segments where you consistently deliver the strongest outcomes, and focus new business development there. Why now: Review stagnation may reflect misalignment between your marketing message and actual client expectations, or concentration in lower-satisfaction case types. Effort: High. Expected impact: Medium.
