WHAT HAPPENED

Smile Arts of NY dropped from rank #13 to #20 between scans, a decline of 7 positions. During the 13-week measurement window, three competitors directly above your current position each gained new reviews: The Smile Code NYC added 5 reviews, Park Smiles NYC Cosmetic Dentistry added 2 reviews, and The New York Center for Cosmetic Dentistry added 1 review. Your practice accumulated 30 reviews over 11 weeks of the scan period, placing your total at 828 reviews -- the highest volume in the category -- but this review velocity of 2.7 reviews per week did not prevent the rank decline.

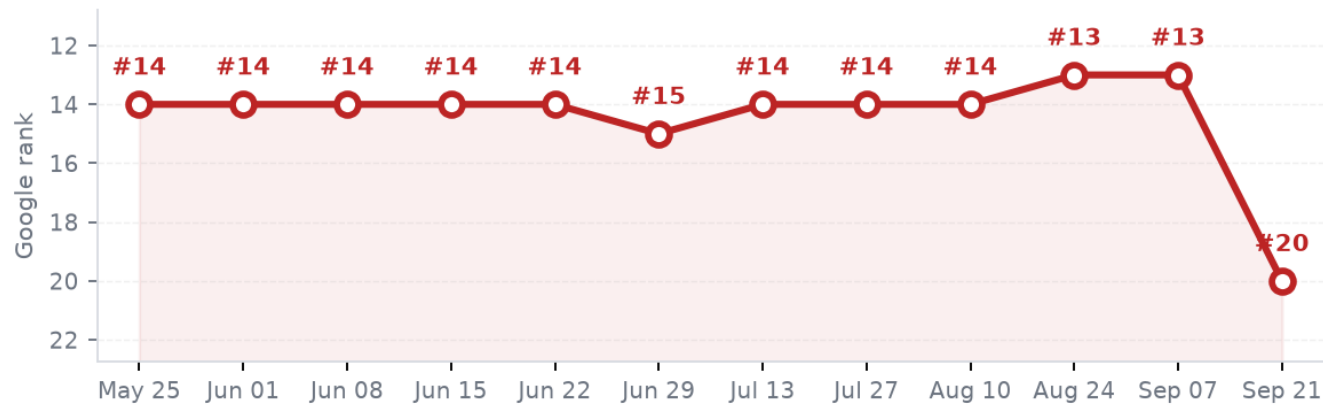

WHY YOU SLIPPED

- [HIGH CONFIDENCE] Park Smiles NYC Cosmetic Dentistry, now ranked #3, gained 29 reviews during the scan period while climbing 8 positions. This competitor's review growth velocity significantly outpaced your own 2.7 reviews per week.
- [MEDIUM CONFIDENCE] Your profile holds 17 competitor positions above you with ratings higher than your 4.8 stars. The market average rating is 4.9 stars, suggesting competitors are attracting marginally better-rated reviews. Your review quality appears consistent, but the incremental rating gap may influence local pack ranking.
- [HIGH CONFIDENCE] The 12-week rank history shows a pattern of decline from your best position of #13 down to #20 in the most recent scan. The data suggests sustained downward pressure rather than a temporary fluctuation. Six of the last 12 weekly scans recorded you at #14 or lower.

YOUR STANDING

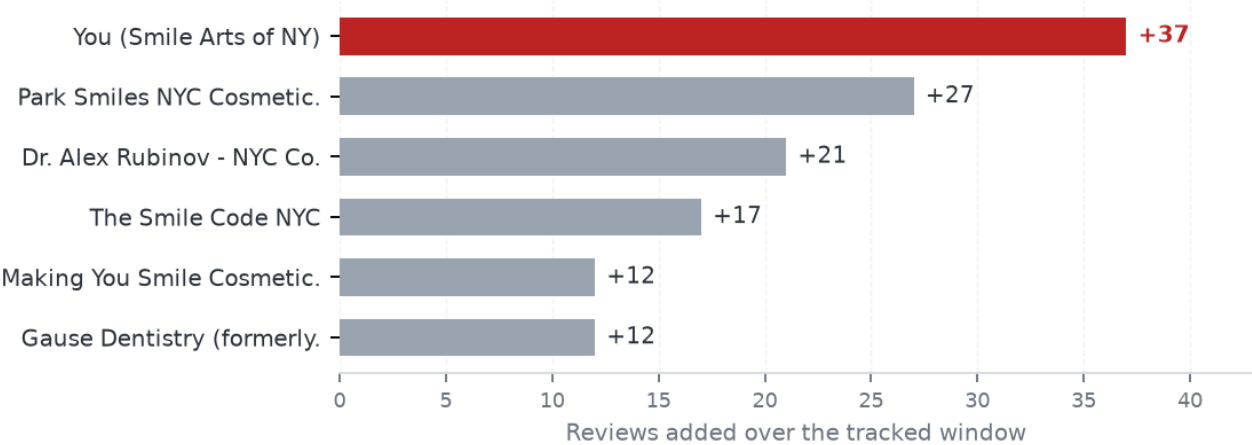

Your confidence score is 10/10, meaning this data is complete and reliable. The rank drop is sustained across multiple weeks of observation, not a single-week anomaly. The decline warrants attention, particularly given Park Smiles' trajectory and the top position's 70.3% click share versus your current 0.8%.
